FAQ

Protecting Aboriginal and Treaty Rights.

If the Governance Agreement is approved, First Nations will become municipalities or be forced to accept municipal-like status?

- This is a myth that has come up again and again. Our First Nations would never accept any kind of arrangement or agreement that would abrogate from (overrule) or derogate from (diminish) our rights, including our right to be sovereign, self-governing Anishinabek First Nations. The Governance Agreement protects and does not derogate from Aboriginal and Treaty rights.
